

ciapani & toretti

Roberto Ciapani and Federico Toretti have been cooperating in Italian fashion and publishing as Image Consultants for several years, providing also stylistic advice as regards Home and Yacht Interior Design.

It is mainly during the latest years that they have started focusing on Personal Design, designing extremely refined and unique spaces, in accordance with the customer's taste.

The pictures in the website shows a brand new designing of the Azimut 62 which turns upside down the outdated concept of the original Yacht. Thanks to a newly found concept, Roberto and Federico managed to reproduce on board that comfort and that warmth that only a home can offer.

Hand-bleached maple furniture have been rescaled and reshaped in their volumes and capacities. Plasma screens can be disguised and even disappear by using sophisticated electronic equipment. All floors are lined with Tek wood and all seats are in butter white leather as well as furniture visible paddings. The cabin stylistic leitmotiv was using both the leather of water animals such as crocodiles, snakes, water boas, eels and prestigious Italian fabrics and cashmire produced by Maison Frette. The above-mentioned company, following their suggestion, gave them the chance to conceive unique work-of-arts, setting up a whole collection destined to this Yacht.

All this, linked to the care in choosing all furnishings on board, gives this job a unique and inimitable touch. Therefore, Roberto and Federico succeeded in breaking loose from mass production which is more and more widespread in civil navigation. Their secret key consists in re-examining and rediscovering the true nature of luxury and prestige, i.e. being unique which only remarkable customers and their guests can really appreciate and recognize.
